Sarah Jones:

Sarah Jones, 1999      Dossier zu: Sarah Jones, 2019      Bilder des Privaten Lars Spengler, 2014-03-15 Der private Raum ist seit den 1980er Jahren wieder ein zentrales Bezugsfeld in der Kunst. Es sind zuvorderst Fotografien über die reale oder fiktive Wohnräume dargestellt und das ambivalente Verhältnis des postmodernen Subjekts zu sich und zur Welt verhandelt werden. In diesem Buch untersucht Lars Spengler erstmals umfassend das thematische Spektrum fotografischer Interieurs in der Gegenwartskunst. Zahlreiche Bilder von Künstlern wie Nan Goldin, Miriam Beckström, Thomas Struth oder Gregory Crewdson werden exemplarisch analysiert und in kulturellen Kontexten reflektiert. Eine innovative Studie, die Kunst und fotohistorische Betrachtungen mit kulturwissenschaftlichen Fragestellungen verbindet.      Jews and Muslims in British Colonial America Elizabeth Caldwell Hirschman, Donald N. Yates, 2012-03-05 Americans have learned in elementary school that their country was founded by a group of brave white largely British Christians. Modern reinterpretations recognize the contributions of African and indigenous Americans but the basic premise has persisted. This groundbreaking study fundamentally challenges the traditional national storyline by postulating that many of the initial colonists were actually of Sephardic Jewish and Muslim Moorish ancestry. Supporting references include historical writings, ship manifests, wills, land grants, DNA test results, genealogies and settler lists that provide for the first time the Spanish, Hebrew, Arabic and Jewish origins of more than 5,000 surnames the majority widely assumed to be British. By documenting the widespread presence of Jews and Muslims in prominent economic, political, financial and social positions in all of the original colonies, this innovative work offers a fresh perspective on the early American experience.      Take Care of the Living Jeffrey W. McClurken, 2009-08-11 Take Care of the Living assesses the short and long term impact of the war on Confederate veteran families of all classes in Pittsylvania County and Danville, Virginia. Using letters, diaries, church minutes and military and state records as well as close analysis of the entire 1860 and 1870 Pittsylvania County manuscript population census, McClurken explores the consequences of the war for over three thousand Confederate soldiers and their families. The author reveals an array of strategies employed by those families to come to terms with their postwar reality, including reorganizing and reconstructing the household, turning to local churches for emotional and economic support, pleading with local elites for financial assistance or positions, sending psychologically damaged family members to a state-run asylum and looking to the state for direct assistance in the form of replacement limbs for amputees, pensions and even state-supported homes for old soldiers and widows. Although these strategies or institutions for reconstructing the family had their roots in existing practices, the extreme need brought on by the scope and impact of the Civil War required an expansion beyond anything previously seen. McClurken argues that this change serves as a starting point for the study of the evolution of southern welfare.      Records and Briefs of the United States Supreme Court,      Reports of Cases Heard and Determined by the Supreme Court of South Carolina South Carolina.
