Sassafrass, Cypress & Indigo Ntozake Shange, 2010-09-28

The Kansas City Star Ntozake Shange's beloved Sassafrass Cypress Indigo is the story of three sisters and their mother from Charleston South Carolina. Having gone north to college she is now living in Los Angeles with other artists and trying to fashion a life for herself out of her work her man her memories and her dreams. Cypress the dancer leaves home to discover new ways of moving in the world. Indigo the youngest is still a child of Charleston too much of the south in her who lives in poetry and has the supreme gift of seeing the obvious magic of the world. Shange's rich and wondrous story of womanhood art and passionately lived lives is written with such exquisite care and beauty that anybody can relate to her message. Against Their Will Tammie Jenkins, 2025-08-20 Black women novelists use their female characters to create stories that challenge stereotypical depictions regarding womanhood trauma and legacies in the larger society. Such women novelists rooted in literary tradition traceable to the nineteenth in which they endeavored to insert their voices into these conversations while deconstructing these depictions. Modernized in the 1970s this literary tradition has enabled Black women novelists to expand their novelistic stories that include semiautobiographical accounts blended with fiction. Novelists such as Toni Morrison Gayl Jones Alice Walker Octavia Butler Ntozake Shange Gloria Naylor and Edwidge Danticat use their texts to present readers with alternative portrayals of Black female characters. Using singular monolithic texts by each author this book explores how Morrison Jones Walker Butler Shange Naylor and Danticat present readers with female characters that use their lived experiences social realities and storytelling to navigate their womanhood heal their trauma and create their legacies. Key audiences for the book include undergraduate and graduate students and instructors in Women and Gender Studies courses and African American literature.

Haunting Capital Hershini

Bhana Young, 2006 In Haunting Capital Hershini Young sets out to re-theorize the African diaspora so that the concept becomes unintelligible without an understanding of gender as a constitutive element. Young uses the historically injured bodies of black women as represented in novels by black women to talk about colonialism gender race memory and haunting. Haunting Capital departs from traditional trauma studies which stress individual wounding and psychotherapeutic models. Instead Young explores the notion of injury as a collective wounding resulting from the trauma of capitalistic regimes such as slavery and colonialism She also introduces the idea of the ghost to her discussion of collective injury where it functions not only on theoretical and metaphorical levels but also by invoking African cosmologies in which ghosts are ancestral beings with a real spiritual presence More specifically Young insists on the contemporary reality of African nations and eschews the presentation of Africa as a vague undifferentiated point of origin that characterizes many other studies of the African diaspora Her reading of African contemporary novels by women alongside African American and Caribbean novels works to show the African diaspora as haunted by similar though different issues of gendered and racialized violence
